Dear Friend:

I am enclosing you a copy of a letter I just wrote to Mr Robb, in answer to one he sent me.

I am sorry there has been so much confusion. I realize it has been my fault. The things should have been ordered long ago, but we will just blame it all on the war.

I do hope there will not be any conflict, remember you made two sets of uniforms for us last year. I wrote toward the end of the season, offering to take the extra set, and it had been sold.

As things stand now, I am sending the caps to Philadelphia, to the attention of MrCampuzano, as Mr Robb directed in his letter to have the "E" put on.

At the same time I am asking him to go ahead with the jackets, using the tan horsehide sleeve, as that is the only color it can be obtained in.

In view of conditions, I do not want to order a set of uniforms at this time. I believe if the miners strike, we may not be able to play night ball. If this happens it will of course mean a lot of changes in our program.

Thanks for your cooperation. Will write you what happens.

Very Truly Yours
